HYPERTENSION EDUCATION

1. Manage your stress levels: With the help of relaxation techniques and support from your friends and family, your stress levels can decrease significantly. Reducing stress and anxiety can prevent related episodes of elevated blood pressure.
2. Lose excess weight: If you're overweight or obese, losing even a small amount weight can significantly help in lowering blood pressure.
3. blood pressure should limit their daily intake to 1500mg. Eating foods including bananas, leafy greens, potatoes, and some dried fruits including dates and raisins is a great way to up your potassium intake. Limiting or avoiding fatty, fried or processed foods is also a positive step in keeping your blood pressure in check.
4. Get exercising: Regular aerobic activity improves blood vessel flexibility, helps to create new vessels, and increases blood flow. Try to be active for at least 150 minutes a week, or 30 minutes a day. Walking, jogging and swimming are all good forms of exercise.
5. Reduce alcohol consumption.
6. Change your dietary habits: Cut back on your salt and increase your potassium intake.
